ELECTION/RESTRICTIONS

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Species I illustrated by Figures 3, 4 and 7-13;

Species II illustrated by Figures 3, 5 and 7-13;

Species III illustrated by Figures 3, 6 and 7-13;

Species IV illustrated by Figures 14 and 15; and Species V illustrated by Figure 16.

The species are independent or distinct because each of the input devices of these species comprises its own distinct feature(s) and has its own distinct functions, as follows:

Species I requires at least an internal motion sensor (116) (see Fig. 4), which is internally located in the hand held computer device and is not required by at least species II and III; Species II requires a remote motion sensor (144) and the wireless interfaces (138-1, 138-2) (see Fig. 5), which are not required by at least species I and III-V; Species III requires a virtual space navigator (150) and radio wireless interfaces (138, 144; see Fig. 6), which are not required by at least species I, II, IV and V; Species IV requires a trackball-type motion sensor (70) for producing a motion vector measurements in response to movement of the hand held computer in relation to a planar surface (Figs. 14-15; specification, page 12, lines 14-19), which is not required by at least species I-III; and Species V requires a desktop computer system (10) (see Fig. 16), which is not required by at least species I-IV.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there is no generic claim to ALL indicated species.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 2629

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
